An avant-garde event

Geomatics applications have become increasingly important, particularly in cities and smart spaces, in the Internet of Things, in the gaming industry, in short wherever geolocation matters to bring innovation and opportunities. Geomatics is a subject that cuts across all geospatial technology sectors and now covers all business areas, including information technology, finance, transportation, marketing, natural resources and even the arts. GÉOMTL 2019 opens its doors to all communities interested in geomatics, geolocation and geospatial.

A festive and inspiring experience

More than a show, GÉOMTL 2019 is a participative experience that allows people to meet pairs, exchange and discover through quality interventions, the trends of the field. The proposed format combines conferences and exchange activities such as the much anticipated networking evening, luncheon conferences and more, not forgetting the presentation of the Gaïa prize, which honors geomatics developers in Quebec.
